How to get unbanned from Omegle

Special report

You enjoy chatting on Omegle, the free online video chat site. Chatting with complete strangers is fun, but suddenly, you find yourself banned from the chat site.

What happened? How can I get back into the chat?

Unfortunately, there's no way to contact someone at Omegle to ask to reverse the ban. Scroll down and find some tips to get unblocked.

I know, nobody likes rules... Still here some quick advice, so you enjoy safe video chatting!

Omegle Safety Rules

Here the 3 golden safety rules!

#1 Do not give out personal information like your name or address

#2 Don't just do anything somebody tells you to do

#3 If you feel discomfort, you should click the "next" button

Beware following scams

Don't get scared if somebody knows where you are from and tells your country, city or even district. They can identify your IP address area with a simple Network Analyser Tool. But they will not never be able to read out a street name or real home address.

If somebody records a picture or video of you and threatens you, that he will be sending it to your friends and family if you don't do what they say. Just leave the chat!

Never click any download links, which some people share with you. Worst case you get malware and get hacked.

Be Nice, Respect each Other and have Fun

★Why do you get banned?★

Your Chats Are Dropped Regularly

If strangers drop you frequently or if you drop other chat partners very often, the Omegle algorithm will notice and assume that you are a troll and no one wants to talk to you. This can also happen, when you have an unstable internet connection and you are frequently dropped out of chats in Omegle.

You Violated the Terms & Conditions

Many users are banned, as they violate the basic terms of service like: spamming, trolling, using restricted words, transmitting sexual content, violating a copyright etc.

For example, even playing music tracks during video calls can get you banned, as this is against copyright laws.

★How Do I Get Unbanned?★

1 Wait a few days for the ban to lift

Omegle bans can last anywhere from a week to six months depending on the severity of the offense. Check back every so often to see if the ban has been lifted.

2 Connect to a different network

Try to connect to a different WiFi network that is in your range. Maybe you can go to a friend's house, a public hotspot or neighbor to use their network until you get unbanned on your home network.

3 Get a new IP address - restart your router

Omegle connects you to other users for chats via your IP address. They ban you from their service, simply by blocking your IP address from connecting to their servers.

So you can bypass their ban, if you change the IP address from your home network. Just follow these steps:

1. Turn off your internet router and wait for 5 mins.
2. Go to your browser history under settings. Delete the browsing data.
3. Plug the internet router back in and wait to reconnect with the internet
4. Try again Omegle. Please note - You must do both the steps . Then only it works.

4 Use a VPN service

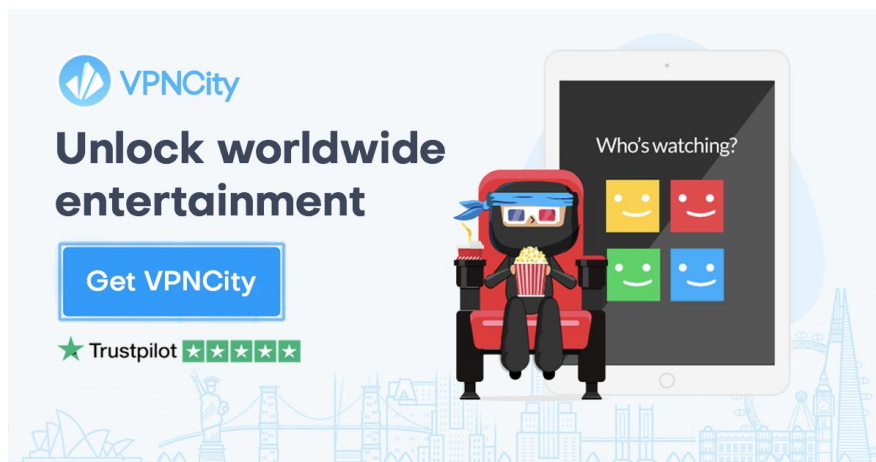

If all above steps don't work, you can use a VPN service. VPNs cost money (2-3 USD per month), but you get a 14 days money back guarantee and can cancel the subscription, if the service won't work for you.

I personally use VPNcity and recommend it here to everybody, who likes to try out a VPN.

All your browsing online is actually tracked back to your IP, so if you like to have more online privacy, then you really should check out VPNs.

5 Steps to use VPNcity to bypass Omegle ban

1. Subscribe to VPNcity - 14 day Free Trial* -click
2. Install the VPNcity's app on your device.
3. Select and connect to any VPNcity server. (This assigns a new IP address to your device.)
4. Visit the Omegle website
5. Start a conversation!
6. Change VPNcity server, in case you get banned again!
7. Enjoy many other benefits from the VPN service, like browsing privacy and much more

5 Chat on an Omegle alternative

If you've run out of options, try one of the other random video chat services on the internet. Some popular options are

- Chatroulette
- Chatrandom
- Tinychat

Make sure you understand each site's rules before chatting to avoid further bans.
